

SOMETHING DIFFERENT EACH DAY AT ASHEVILLE

No Lack in Variety of Amusements
Offered Guests at North Carolina Resort.

DANCING ALWAYS INEVITABLE
Scores of Devotees, of Outdoor and Indoor Golf and Mountain Climbing—Tea Dance on Wednesday Brings Out Large Crowd.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ASHEVILLE, N. C., February 19.—Something different is to be found in every part of the Asheville resort. The guests are making the most of every new idea. Guests alternate between golf, indoor golf, mountain climbing, parties, tea and the inevitable dancing. The regular Saturday night dinner dance, the feature of the week, was well attended to-night, and the tea dance Wednesday night at the Inn brought out the largest afternoon crowd of the season.

Miss Dorothy Johnston, of New York, was guest of honor to-night at a dinner given by Miss Beatrice Woodruff, of New York, who is at the Statler. Miss Woodruff's guests, besides Miss Johnston, were Judge and Mrs. J. H. Adams, of Asheville; W. E. Kitchell, of New York, and Dr. W. E. Herbert, of Asheville.

Mrs. Fred Loring Seely inaugurated a series of five-o'clock teas Wednesday, at which a number of prominent Asheville residents were present. Senator Theodore E. Burton and R. G. Floyd, of Cleveland, O., were here the first of the week, and were given a luncheon by Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Clark, of Asheville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker Smith, of Washington, are here for a rest. Mr. Smith is connected with the diplomatic service and is at present with the State Department at Washington. Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams and Miss McWilliams, of Shamokin, Pa., have just arrived, and will spend some time here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Beckett and Mrs. D. S. Tuttle are recent additions to the New York colony. Many guests will attend the first dance given by the Asheville Club in its new quarters, the dance taking place Tuesday night. This dance is expected to be one of the big events of the winter season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Zabarsky, of Hackensack, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, of Rutherford, N. J.; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stephenson, Miss M. Faxon and Harry E. Grant, of New York, will be a party arriving from the East this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Slueman, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., are recent guests here. Mr. and Mrs. M. Q. Baker have arrived from Cochocton, O., for an indefinite stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Name of New York, are recent additions to the Eastern colony. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Gilman and Miss Sarah Merrick, of Cleveland, O., are recent arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bettenger, of Cincinnati, are among the recent notable arrivals. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Westcott, of Union City, Pa., are guests here.

SOCIETY

(Continued from Second Page.)

Intervenor, are in Richmond for a brief stay en route to Norfolk.

WOMEN'S MEETINGS.
The Helping Circle of King's Daughters will meet on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Mrs. Marshall Boyle, 665 North Twenty-fourth Street. A full attendance is urged.

There will be an interesting meeting on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, arranged by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Grace Street Baptist Church. The meeting will be held at the church, and all the women and girls of the church and congregation are cordially invited to attend. Miss Orie L. Hatcher and Mrs. Julian P. Thomas will make short talks, and there will be special music for the occasion.

After the program is concluded a social half-hour will follow. The James River Garden Club will meet with Mrs. Garnett Tabb, on Monument Avenue, on Wednesday at 4 o'clock. Election of officers will take place at this time, and members are invited to be present.

ROANOKE COLLEGE NOTES

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SALEM, VA., February 19.—Dr. J. A. Morehead will make the convention address at the opening of the meeting of the Virginia Sunday School Association, which convenes at Newport News on Monday. He will speak on the subject, "The Bible and the Sunday School." Dr. Morehead returned to the college on Thursday, after an absence of several weeks.

The annual midwinter address before the Y. M. C. A. will be delivered in College Lutheran Church to-morrow evening by Rev. John P. Crigger, class of '16, of Charlotte, N. C.

E. H. Bonham, class of '15, who is now a student at V. P. I., visited the college on Sunday.

E. M. Shenk, class of '10, and wife, of Greensboro, N. C., visited relatives and friends in Salem during the past week.

The sixtieth annual celebration of the Clericonian Literary Society will be held in the town hall of Salem on Tuesday evening. An anniversary of unusual excellence is promised. The program follows:

Address by the president, H. M. Painter; subject, "Wilson, the American Cicero." F. S. Tavenner; subject, "The Americanization of the World."

Debate: "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate the Railroads." Affirmative, C. O. Ritchie; negative, W. G. Winton.

Final orator, P. L. Broad; subject, "A New Era of International Law." The college orchestra will furnish music.

ELON COLLEGE
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ELON COLLEGE, N. C., February 19.—Washington's birthday will be celebrated this year as usual in college circles here, not simply as a birthday celebration, but as a day of the year, the regular time for the celebration of the Clio Literary Society. This year the society's entertainment bids fair to fill a large place in the public eye because of the timeliness of the party which will be debated by four of its young men, constituting the chief item in the celebration. The party concerns itself with President Wilson's preparation for the presidency. The idea of preparedness as outlined by the Wilson administration

Author of "A Man's Reach"

MRS. SALLY NELSON ROBINS.

A new author has come out of Virginia, and with her a story that is quick with the life of the Old Dominion. Beautiful girls, blonded thoroughbreds and men with a devil-may-care attitude. It is a temperance story, without a trace of sentimentalism; a love story that rings true on the human heart, a story of outdoor life, work, play, youth and age, modern in characterization and plot, ancient in an eternal appeal.

The South especially may congratulate itself upon Sally Nelson Robins' story, "A Man's Reach." To understand and chronicle the lives and virtues of a social order one must be born within that order, and with rare and delicate touch this woman of a "new-old" order tells another story of a distinctive people. The story shows "a man's reach" and a woman's God-ward reach as well. It is a song of optimism, its noble motif being "He that is dead is risen again."

will appear Charles N. Whitlock, of Huntington, Ind., and Zeb Vance Young, of Wake County, N. C. Opposing them will be W. E. Marley, of Rainsboro, N. C., and E. H. Rainey, of Gashburg, Va.

Other items on the program will be a welcome address by Captain L. E. Jorgensen, of Detroit, Mich.; orations by I. C. Wilkins, of Suffolk, Va., and E. N. Pearce, of Youngsville, N. C.; a humorous production by W. P. Young, of Bennett, Va., and a piano solo by Edwin M. Betts, of Raleigh, N. C.

On Monday evening the annual peace contest will be given, in which six speakers will appear, one of whom will win the Elton College peace medal and be given the honor at the same time of representing the college at the State intercollegiate contest, to be held some time in March in Durham, N. C.

The young men who will have part in this contest are Roger M. White, Waverly, Va.; J. L. Crumpton, Roxboro, N. C.; W. C. King, Seagrove, N. C.; W. M. Motley, Burlington, N. C.; J. N. Fleming, Greensboro, N. C.; Oscar Paul Fitzgerald, Whitsett, N. C.

HARRISONBURG NORMAL

HARRISONBURG, VA., February 19.—The Stratford Literary Society, after the regular meeting of the society, entertained the faculty and the other two societies with a Valentine party.

The Lee Literary Society on February 2 presented a series of tableaux of unusual beauty depicting scenes from ancient and modern history.

Miss Helen Becker, assistant general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., for the South Atlantic field, made a visit last week in the interest of the jubilee celebrated during this month all over the country. The association here numbers 150 members.

Miss Rachel E. Gregg, supervisor of practice teaching, attend the Norfolk Teachers' Institute on February 5 and spoke to the whole body on "Economy in Education." To the high school teachers on "The Relation of the High School to the Grades," and to the grammar grade teachers on "English Teaching in the Grammar School."

William R. Smythe, of the faculty, last week attended the second annual meeting of the Association of Virginia Colleges in Charlottesville. This association is composed of the presidents and deans of the colleges and normal schools of Virginia, who meet to discuss entrance requirements, uniform blanks, and other helps in unifying and standardizing their work.

A very helpful and interesting feature of school life is the monthly meeting of the combined faculties of the normal school and the graded school in Harrisonburg which is used as a training school. At these meetings are discussed educational subjects and problems, with especial reference to arranging and correlating the work of instruction so as to meet the needs of both schools, and of the schools of the State at large. This week four of the normal school instructors and two from the high school presented various phases of mathematics and general science, and a general discussion followed.

A WEALTH OF LUXURANT HAIR

DUE TO CARE AND CUTICURA

Shampoos with Cuticura Soap preceded by light touches of Cuticura Ointment do much to cleanse the scalp of dandruff, allay itching and irritation, arrest falling hair and promote a hair-growing condition.

Samples Free by Mail

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free with 35¢ box. Address post-card "Cuticura," Dept. 100, Boston.

The Strange Case of Mary Page

BY FREDERICK LEWIS.
Author of "What Happened to Mary?"
Pictures by Rosamary. Copyright, 1915, by the Victor Publications. Shown at the Victor Theater.

SYNOPSIS.
Mary Page, actress, is accused of the murder of David Pollock, and is defended by her lover, Philip Langdon. Pollock was on the first escape watching for Langdon. At Mary's trial she admits she had the revolver. Her maid testifies that Mary threatened Pollock with it previously, and Mary is feeling manly implicated in the crime. Langdon disappeared from the scene of the crime in a mystery. Brandon told a strange hand print he saw on Mary's shoulder.

(Continued from Saturday.)
CHAPTER IV.

The district attorney stood at the window of his private office adjoining the court and stared down at the hurrying throngs, while one nervous hand beat a devil's tattoo against the somewhat grimy pane.

It had been raining, and the identity, even the sex, of the crowd was submerged beneath a sea of bobbing black umbrellas, between which the wet and shining tops of the motor cars glared like huge black beetles.

The prosecutor saw neither the crowd nor the traffic—he saw only Mary Page! She had become almost an obsession with him now, and though it was not yet time for court and there were other clients besides the State whose long-suffering claimed his attention in his other office, he had drifted here, as he had drifted unwittingly each morning, to mentally test the links in the chain of his evidence against her.

It should be strong enough to bind her upon the merciless wheel of the law, and yet he was conscious that more than one of its links was weak—so weak, in fact, that not even his masterly summing up for the jury had been entirely able to gloss it over. He did not doubt for a moment that Mary Page was guilty of the murder of David Pollock, but he had not proved her so to his own satisfaction. The intricacies of what had at first seemed so simple a case had multiplied with almost incredible rapidity, and each clue that it had seemed must throw an illuminating light upon the labyrinth of mystery had proved in turn to be more willow-like wisps that led deeper into the maze.

He had shown that Pollock was in her eyes an enemy; he had proved that the dead man was a worse worse pursuer than twice during the recent years Pollock had forced Mary to promise to be his wife, but that once the necessity for that step was removed, she had claimed her freedom again. She had everything to gain by his death, which was surely motive enough; added to which, if she were not guilty, he felt she would not have died that night after the murder. But that flight—that complete disappearance within those few short moments, presupposed a confederate—some one who had either led her into another room in the hotel or into one of the houses whose backs looked across the narrow street.

A confederate, on the other hand, meant a premeditated crime, and the bellhop and those at the banquet had testified that Mary had not expected to see David Pollock when she went into the room.

Time after time as he went back to the testimony—to the fact that Mary had had the revolver in her bag, had gone into the room and had been found beside Pollock's body—he strove to glimpse some faint clue that would give a chance for "fresh evidence." In the meantime, it was Langdon's turn, and the keen-eyed district attorney wondered curiously just what defense he would bring. Langdon's continual refusal to cross-examine the witnesses for the State had naturally kept his defense wonderfully well hidden. Yet when so much of the testimony had concerned Langdon himself, cross-examination must, perforce, have been a farce, and the prosecutor did not believe its absence a part of any deep-laid scheme.

The newspapers were, however, full of theories as to what the defense would be. Several claimed that it would be the "unwritten law," the guarding of Mary Page's honor; another that it would be proved that Pollock shot himself when he found that not even his support of her stardom could make Mary marry him, while still a third said that the real criminal would "confess" when put upon the stand. Absurd, all of them, and yet the third theory brought a frown to the lawyer's face. Suppose Langdon himself confessed to the murder? He didn't believe Langdon had committed it, but he loved Mary, and he might picture himself to save her. "Hello, chief," a voice from the door interrupted his reveries, and he turned quickly.

"Hello, Sheenan. Have you got any thing?"

"The detective came in and shut the door."

"No," he said, "not a thing along the lines you spoke of. Slide doesn't know anything except what he told, and I've traced Langdon's movements for three days before the murder, down to such minute, and there's nothing to hang a dog's hair to."

"Did you find out about the automobile parked on that night?"

"Yes; but Casey was on the job at that corner, and there wasn't as much as a ghost of a motor went into the street back of the hotel. The back seats of the houses were looked—had been tried by the watchman just a few minutes earlier, and the police were on the job anyway, on account of the club there. The Page woman must have gone down the fire escape and climbed into the hotel at another floor—that's the only answer."

The prosecutor turned again to the window. "All right," he said curtly. But the detective lingered.

"Say, chief," he suggested hesitantly, "have you talked to Daniels? Little fat guy that runs the Covington? I saw him yesterday, and he looks—well, sick."

The prosecutor laughed. "You'd look sick yourself in his shoes," he said. "Daniels has lost a popular star, a bully road show, and a generous backer through one little caliber cartridge—and the fortune he had his hands on has flown the coop. He doesn't know anything. I've pumped him dry as powder."

A discreet knock sounded, and the buffed portier came in with a note. "His Honor is ready to go into court," he said, and with a nod of relief the prosecutor gathered up his papers.

"Defense begins to-day, don't it?" asked the detective as he left. "What do you guess it's going to be?"

(To Be Continued To-Morrow.)

RADFORD NORMAL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

EAST RADFORD, VA., February 19.—Each week at the chapel period each morning there will be special song service, and on Tuesday morning the girls of the Radford Normal Music Club will render a program consisting of national songs, with the girls of each school. On next Sunday night there will be a union song service, in which the pastors and congregations of each denomination in the city will participate. During the week there will be a concert by the young women of the normal school, and also a concert by the children in the training school in the first, second and third grades. All these exercises are under the direction of the music department.

On Saturday night the girls held their annual Valentine party, for the benefit of the normal school, and also a concert by the children in the training school in the first, second and third grades. All these exercises are under the direction of the music department.

On Saturday night the girls held their annual Valentine party, for the benefit of the normal school, and also a concert by the children in the training school in the first, second and third grades. All these exercises are under the direction of the music department.

The senior domestic science class entertained the normal faculty, the training-school teachers and the teaching seniors at an informal Valentine tea on Friday afternoon.

Henry Oldys, of Washington, delivered before the students and faculty an address on "Birds and Bird Songs" last Tuesday. This lecture was one of a series that is given to inspire in the young women who go out from this institution as teachers a love and appreciation of nature. Mr. Oldys will also deliver some lectures during the summer normal in July.

Last Friday night Dr. J. P. McConnell delivered an address before the School Improvement League at Floyd. Recently a commodious high school building has been established at that place, and the high school course of study strengthened.

Professor J. E. Arent, on Saturday, attended a meeting of the professors of education of the various normal schools and of the University at Charlottesville, to discuss certain matters in connection with the course of education to be offered in the various normal schools and the university during the summer normals.

LYNCHBURG

LYNCHBURG, VA., February 19.—Miss J. P. Henderson, of Botetourt County, spent a part of the week here with her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Stevens. Miss Ruby Smoot is at home after a visit with friends in Petersburg.

Miss and Mrs. C. J. Mason have gone to Florida for a stay of six weeks. Mrs. R. L. Justice, of Greensboro, N. C., has been the guest recently of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Webb.

Miss John Allison Lawton has returned to her home at Charleston, S. C., after a visit to her brother, A. H. Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Gilbert spent the week in Washington and New York City. Miss Meta Glass returned home early during the week after a brief visit with her brother, Congressman Carter Glass, and Mrs. Glass in Washington.

Miss Charles G. Seay is visiting friends in Charleston, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ford are spending the month of February in Florida.

Miss Connie Dodd has returned from a short visit in Staunton. Miss Sallie L. Nowlin is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Cigna, in Washington.

Major Stanley W. Martin has returned from New Orleans, where he went to attend to some business relations to the Kappa Sigma fraternity, of which he is the national treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Glass, of Ashtabula, O., visited Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Glass here this week.

Mrs. W. C. Barker, who spent a week here with her sister, Mrs. James Stearnes, has returned to her home at Charleston, W. Va.

Mrs. E. S. Moon and daughter, Miss Mary Moon, and Miss Minnie Perry of Lynchburg, and Miss Ora M. Perrow, of Concord, have gone for an extended stay in St. Petersburg and Jacksonville, Fla.

Miss Bertha Macarty spent the week with relatives in Charlotte, N. C. Miss Ethel Rucker is visiting friends in West Virginia.

Miss K. A. Martin is visiting friends in Baltimore.

FARMVILLE NORMAL SCHOOL

FARMVILLE, VA., February 19.—President Jarman and Mrs. Jarman were in Richmond this week.

Miss Emily W. Dunn, of the department of education, addressed the teachers of Greenville County at Emporia on the 12. She discussed briefly problems of the elementary rural school.

Professor T. D. Eason spent several days in Richmond this week attending to important business.

On Saturday Professor S. P. Duke, head of the department of education, with the heads of the departments of education of the other State normal schools in Charlottesville to work over the course in education of both the regular normal school courses and the summer school.

A very valuable bulletin on the teaching of English in the elementary school is now ready for distribution by the book room.

On Wednesday evening a very delightful number of the star course was rendered by the Ribbelafer-Skibinsky Company.

Officers for the "Focus," the student monthly publication, for the spring semester were elected as follows this week: Editor-in-chief, Miss Lillian Oshenkin; assistant editor-in-chief, Miss Elsie Bach; literary editor, Miss Frances Stover; assistant literary editor, Miss Myrtle Parker; business manager, Miss Lottie Hiner; first assistant manager, second assistant business manager, Miss Frances Mooney; news editor, Miss Eugenia Lundie; assistant news editor, Miss Edith Miles.

WINCHESTER

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
WINCHESTER, VA., February 19.—Mrs. Richard Evelyn Byrd is returning the early part of next week from Richmond and Washington, where she has been visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Alexander Barrie has returned from an extended stay with relatives and friends in Hampton and Germantown, Pa.

Mrs. Lewis M. Allen, Mrs. Robert Randolph and Miss Anna Page left this week by motor for Atlantic City, and they will also visit relatives in Baltimore before returning.

Miss Florence Burgess, of this city, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Harriet Cabnes, in Richmond, is now with relatives at Front Royal, Va.

Miss Flora Barry, of Washington, came recently to visit Mrs. Paul D. Kelley at her country home. "The Retreat," near Shandy's River.

Mrs. H. D. Fuller has returned from a visit to her mother, Mrs. Virginia Faulkner McSherry, at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Miss Flora Milton has returned from a visit to relatives in New York. Miss Mamie Byrd, who has been visiting friends in Washington, has gone to Baltimore, where she will remain the remainder of the winter with her father, E. Wickham Byrd.

Lieutenant Abner Payne, United States Army, who has been spending some time with relatives, left this week to take command of a company of coast artillery at Fort G. H. Wright, New York, and he will be joined later by Mrs. Payne and son, who are visiting her father, Dr. William L. McGuire.

Miss Frances Beverly has returned from a visit to friends in Baltimore. Miss Caroline Littlepage, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. N. E. Kennerly, at White Post, has returned to her home in King William County.

Miss Catharine Skinker, of Greenway Court, has gone on a visit to relatives in New York.

Misses Rosa and Frances Vogel, of Martinsburg, W. Va., have been the guests of Miss Catherine C. Yost.

Miss Mary Cooper left yesterday to spend some time in Baltimore. Mrs. Elizabeth Lushbaugh has returned to Hinton, W. Va., after visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Seal.

Miss Gertrude Barton has returned from a visit to relatives and friends in Baltimore. Mr. Philip W. Boyd, Jr., has gone on a visit to friends in Washington.

Dr. W. D. Myers has returned from a trip to Boston, Mass.

LOUISA

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LOUISA, VA., February 19.—This week promises to be the gayest of the midwinter season, as the social calendar for the bridge devotees includes three entertainments.

Wednesday the Matinee Bridge Club at her home here. Prize for highest score was cut for by Mrs. F. W. Sims and Mrs. D. N. Walker, the former winning.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Anna Griffith entertained the Thursday Bridge Club in the Louisa Hotel parlors.

This afternoon Mrs. F. W. Sims entertained at her home here at cards. Mrs. Frank Boyley returned to Richmond on Wednesday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. S. S. Griffith.

Miss Mary G. Anderson, of Clifton Forge, is expected this week to visit her sister, Mrs. James West, here.

Mrs. Thomas E. Winston is spending some time at "Winston Hall," with the Misses Winston.

Dr. Lynn Chiles, of Hollins College, returned to Orange, N. J.

Mrs. John Chandler, of Barboursville, spent several days with Henry Chandler and daughter, here.

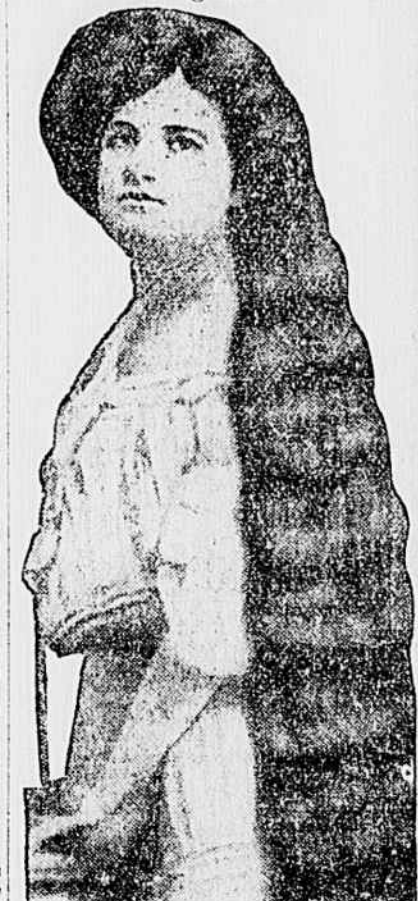

Miss Ellen Chiles, of Hollins College, Miss Virginia Goodwin, of Randolph, Macon College, Lynchburg, and Weir

Goodwin, of the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, attended the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Henry Chiles, on Sunday.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

25 cent bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

to be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fullness and an incomparable gloss and luster, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair, but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp.

Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itching scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments. A delightful surprise awaits every one who tries this.

The Truth Always

Dreyfus

The Facts Only

Broad at Second

Smart Apparel for Women and Misses

To-morrow, We Feature

200 New Suits for Spring

At $25.00 and $35.00

Offering Values That Are Unusual

Exceptional Suits in every way. Every style shown is a copy of either a high priced model or an imported model. Some of them have the manufacturer's label in showing that they are a reproduction of a "Jenny," "Bernard," or some other famous Paris designer. We have put the finest of materials in these suits, and that was possible because our parent house, "Moyes & Dreyfus," 1115 Broadway, are tremendous buyers of such goods—in fact, one of the largest in the country. They are really wonderful values. All sizes.

"THE HOUSE OF QUALITY FURNITURE"

Select Your Spring Home-Furnishings Now

A stock of unrivaled quality, embracing all that is newest and best in Furniture Fashions, invites your early inspection and selection here. Terms to suit every purse or person makes ownership easy for all. Come in and look around to-morrow.

For The Parlor
Rich, handsome 3 and 5-piece Parlor Suites—mahogany frames, upholstered in durable leather and all the fashionable fabrics.

For The Dining Room
Solid, substantial Furnishings, in popular Period and more modern designs. Complete suites and odd pieces in limitless variety.

For The Library
Restful and inviting Furniture that will add to your enjoyment of the room. Arm Chairs, Rockers, Davenport, Davenettes, Tables and a profusion of other desirable items.

For The Kitchen
We are featuring Peninsular Gas Ranges and McDonalds Kitchen Cabinets this week. Come in and let us show you what they will save you in time, trouble and expense.

For The Bed Room
Colonial and Period Suites, Dressers, Chiffoniers and Odd Pieces. Also wonderful selection of handsome Brass Beds of distinctive design at moderate prices.

New Floor Coverings
Latest ideas in 1916 shades and colorings. In Rugs, Carpets, Mattings and Linoleums. Many exclusive patterns that will set off the room to best advantage.

"CASH OR LIBERAL CREDIT."